ADAMH Public School Investments:

Research shows that 1 in 5 youth have a diagnosable mental health disorder. Only 20% of those receive treatment. We also know that 50% of lifetime mental health disorders start by age 14. Early identification and intervention is essential for positive outcomes.

The Alcohol, Drug and Mental Health Board of Franklin County has partnered with all of the public school districts in Franklin County to provide prevention, early intervention and treatment services to students by providing funding for certified mental health and addiction providers to be available for support in each district.

Syntero provides School Based Clinicians for the Upper Arlington School district who work with school personnel to develop services and programming to identify students at risk of developing mental health disorders and/or substance use disorders. Students, parents and school personnel are provided with access to services that work to increase awareness and knowledge of mental health and substance use signs and symptoms. Programming also aids individuals in increasing the utilization of healthy coping strategies. Through this partnership, ADAMH aims to reduce the incidents of mental health disorders and the onset of substance use in youth.

About ADAMH

ADAMH is Franklin County's authority for planning, funding and evaluating mental health, alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment services. ADAMH-funded services are provided by a local network of more than 30 not-for-profit providers.
