

Student Mental Health Prevention Services

Research shows 4 out of 5 youth nationwide could benefit from prevention services.

Prevention services help students build resilience, which improves their behavioral health and overall well-being.

Services available for students at:

Services funded by:

Reynoldsburg City Schools

ADAMH Public School Investments:

Research shows four out of five youth nationwide could benefit from prevention services.

In response, the Alcohol, Drug and Mental Health Board (ADAMH) of Franklin County partners with 16 public school districts in Franklin County and certified behavioral health agencies to provide school-based prevention and early intervention services for all students to support their mental health and wellness journey.

ADAMH school-based prevention investments are grounded in the Strategic Prevention Framework developed by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA).

Through evidence-based and evidence-informed programs and promising practices, prevention services help students build resilience which can help to mitigate underlying behavioral health risk factors; thereby reducing the likelihood of developing a mental health disorder or engaging in risky behaviors, like substance use.

Southeast Healthcare is the ADAMH behavioral health partner for Reynoldsburg City School district. Southeast Healthcare offers school-wide prevention programs to promote a positive school climate, assist students experiencing non-academic barriers to school, support parent engagement and provide professional development for district staff.

Students and staff can reach out to the guidance counselor or the school liaison listed above to access these resources.

ADAMH Providers at Reynoldsburg City Schools:

Southeast Healthcare
Contact: Judith Dean deanj@southeastinc.com

School Liason:
Ashley Pittman
ashley.pittman@reyn.org

Prevention Programs:

Student Assistance Program (SAP) Model - used to identify issues including alcohol, tobacco, other drugs, and mental health issues which pose a barrier to a student's success with the primary goal of helping students overcome barriers so that they may achieve, advance and remain in school.

Types of Services Offered:

- Suicide prevention
- Mental health education
- Drug and alcohol prevention
- School assemblies
- Small group discussions
- Early intervention
- Parent workshops and community trainings
- Crisis support
- Assessment, referral and linkage consultation with students, parents and school personnel
- Professional development of school personnel

Note: Services provided to each school are specialized based on their unique needs and are flexible to respond to emerging needs.

Services are currently provided to grades 6-12, at Summit, Livingston, WRMS, SRMS and Baldwin Middle School campuses.

ADAMH provides a pathway to health and healing for individuals and families in Franklin County seeking resources for addiction and mental health. ADAMH funds accessible and affordable prevention, crisis, treatment, housing, family and recovery services through a network of more than 30 nonprofit agencies located in neighborhoods throughout the county.

Visit us at: www.adamhfranklin.org
Connect with us: @ADAMHFranklin

